

WILDERNESS FIRST AID

Priority Medical Training (PMT) is offering to the BSA the Wilderness First Aid course for scouts and scouters. Course Cost is 120.00 which is a 2 day Course at Camp Jackson and 25.00 for an AHA CPR certification

WFA is the assessment of and treatment given to an ill person in a remote environment where rapid or immediate transport is not readily available. PMT offers the course to any scout or scouter 13 years of age and older. PMT's is a secondary education school and staffed with instructors from a variety of backgrounds including Paramedic, Advanced EMT and Wilderness Instructors.

The Course covers a variety of modules to include:

- Patient assessment in the field
- Field triage
- Assessment and treatment by body system
- Common wilderness injuries and illnesses
- Search and Rescue

Course Information:

- Course taught by ECSI certified instructors from Priority Medical Training
- Location: BSA Camp Jackson, Scottsboro AL.
- This will be a primitive camping experience, so you will need a tent and a sleeping bag.
- Dates: November 13-15
- Cost: $120 (includes course, book, and all meals)

This Course Will be conducted at Camp Jackson. The Restrooms will be open and kitchen. Please be prepared for the weather as it will be November. Staff will be at Jackson on the 13th if troops would like to arrive early please notify us. Course will start at 10:00 am Saturday till Sunday at 5:00 pm.

If you are interested or would like additional information, please contact:

Rick Wilkinson or David Hoover at Training@prioritymedicaltraining.com or our Website prioritymedicaltraining.com or Call 256-682-4251

Register at: <http://ezregister.com/events/15029/>

